SAARC Cultural Centre is the SAARC Regional Centre for Culture and it is based in Sri Lanka. It was established by the Governments and Heads of State of the SAARC Countries to promote cultural cooperation within the Region, to enhance cultural understanding and harmony amongst the people of South Asia and to share the distinct cultural identity of South Asia with the world.

The Centre functions as an important focal point for the artistic communities of the eight Member States of Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Maldives, Nepal, Pakistan and Sri Lanka. The Centre promotes Regional understanding and harmony through Cultural and Research Programmes, brought about with a view to inspire individuals and groups of Artistes, to partake in varied and diverse activities and events encompassing the multifaceted realm of the Arts. It aims to create an inspirational and conducive environment, to meet and exchange their inter-regional creative visions and promote deeper discussion and analysis. In its view to be as inclusive as possible in its outlook and artistic vision, the Centre explores all forms of art, that of Performing Arts such as dance, music, drama, theatre, puppetry and folk culture; Visual Art such as painting, sculpture, film making, photography; and Literature reflecting the vision of the SAARC Agenda for Culture. The Centre also encourages and invites further analysis and exploration through its publications on varied topics from South Asian Diaspora to Traditional Knowledge and Cultural Expression, Sustainable Development and Tourism. In its quest to share the value and depth of South Asian Heritage freely with the world at large, it continues to foray into the realm of publications and research and the Centre will endeavour to make all publications available online on its website: www.saarcculture.org

The SAARC Cultural Centre is a part of SAARC, the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation, created with a vision to build and further promote understanding between the eight countries of the South Asian Region. Eight countries which are already inherently bound together in a richly woven tapestry of shared history and heritage brimming with warm hearted people, fertile lands, a myriad of colour and its very own and unique beauty, art and culture.
Message from Director,
SAARC Cultural Centre, Sri Lanka

It is with great pleasure that I write a few words on this very special occasion where we celebrate and witness South Asian Film at THE SAARC FILM FESTIVAL 2017, organised by the SAARC Cultural Centre.

Cinema is undoubtedly one of the most effective ways of sharing and displaying social practices that reflect a plethora of evolving cultural phenomena in modern society. The SAARC Film Festival endeavours to be an inclusive event, with Free Entrance to all films, encouraging participation of the public from all socio-economic backgrounds and with a multitude of different interests, all with the common goal of being entranced and transported by the vibrant world of Cinema.

The SAARC Film Festival will present a wide array of Feature Films and Short Films and also brings together a collection of 'Master Films', made by respected veteran film makers who are recognised as Masters in the trade by their respective nations and peers across the Film Industry. The purpose and vision of these types of films, being one of building bridges between South Asian talent and mainstream audiences. Now in its 7th year, the SAARC Film Festival has brought together a vivid and varied group of true masters of the art and craft of film making.

The significant developments in technology have dramatically changed the face of the film industry and particularly film making. Amongst other things, it has enabled better quality films to be viewed further afield in a much shorter space of time, with access to much more unusual material and subject matter, constantly pushing the boundaries of accepted norms, all of which has resulted in greater exposure for the social and cultural themes that lie at the very heart of any cinematic experience.

I am delighted the SAARC Film Festival has developed into a prestigious and popular Event, and continues to encourage young talent whilst celebrating the masters in the field. Above all, I am honoured that the SAARC Cultural Centre plays some part in fostering understanding, tolerance and greater acceptance throughout the South Asian Region using the medium of Film.

I sincerely congratulate all the Honoured SAARC Member States, Film Directors, Editors, Cinematographers, Music Directors, Sound Designers, Producers, Actors, Actresses, Jury Members, Participants, Volunteers and all others associated with The Festival for their contribution and support to make this a vibrant and memorable event.

I extend my heartfelt thanks to all the hard-working members of the Organising Committee of the SAARC Film Festival 2017.

Academia is the death of cinema. It is the very opposite of passion. Film is not the art of scholars, but of illiterates.

Werner Herzog

The need of the hour is to promote good cinema and for this it needs to be incorporated in the academic curriculum.

Adoor Gopalakrishnan

If you know that I am an unbeliever, then you know me better than I do myself. I may be an unbeliever, but I am an unbeliever who has a nostalgia for a belief.”

The movie blends the folklore of North Malabar with William Shakespeare's Macbeth in the Bard's 400th year. Veeram is based on the ballads of North Malabar and is set in 13th century Kerala. It narrates the tale of the fearless, mighty and brave Kalarippayattu warrior – Chandu, who falls apart by greed and ambition. The life of Chandu is starkly similar to William Shakespeare's Macbeth but one that occurred even before his time.

Jayaraj

Jayaraj has marked his presence in art house films as well as mainstream films. He has directed 35 films, in four languages. His films have been critically acclaimed and won awards.
This is about an elderly person's search for a son, whose name is resonating in his fading memory. Unlike a traditional family, the current nuclear families lack the much-needed human infrastructure for nursing senior citizens at home. This situation is intense in the southern state Kerala, where many younger members in the family migrate abroad for better job prospects. While bringing public awareness about this crisis, this movie explores the heart-warming story of a grandpa with dementia. Loosely based on several true incidents, this movie paints a faithful picture of how relationships are changed, personal spaces are invaded and love is redefined in a nuclear family when an unwelcome elderly person enters. Can grandpa finally recognize the face behind the resonating name?

The movie takes its story from the Hindu mythical belief related to the God Kaal Bhairav — a deity in Basantapur. The film is based on the myth about how someone is not supposed to tell a lie in front of Kaal Bhairav and the context represents our contemporary society. According to the myth, in the past notorious criminals, who wouldn't tell the truth, was taken before the God Kaal Bhairav to make them tell the truth. The belief was that whoever told lies before the God would die instantly from vomiting blood. The movie shows how cunning and tricky humans have become nowadays. Humans have become so clever that they can even trick the God and put the God in trouble. In the movie the God Kaal Bhairav is put in such a problem that he becomes helpless before the tricky lie and can't kill the liar.

An old university professor, almost 50 years of age is in a secret relationship with one of his young and beautiful students. However, the latter does not seem to take it to her liking when the professor wanted to put an end to the relationship. She also turns out to be a psychopath as she refuses to believe the professor and locks the man up in her house, smiling at him naked from across the room. She also starts tormenting the wife of the professor through various calls. The old couple realises that they cannot escape from the young woman and in an attempt to save the honour and the prestige of the family, the wife takes a momentous decision, she invites the young woman to live with them in their house.

Synopsis

Asoka Handagama is considered as the leader of the third generation of Sri Lankan cinema. His films, like "This is My Moon (2000)" (which won Woosok Award for Best Film at JIFF 2001) "Flying with One Wing" (2002) (Which won Best Asian Film at Tokyo IFF), aiming to tackle harsh socio-political realities in the society, always tend to explore new forms and narratives. Amiens International Film Festival, paid tribute to Asoka Handagama for his contribution to development of independent cinema in Asia, at its 33rd Edition, held from 8th to 16th November 2013. His latest film “Let Her Cry” is his eighth full-length Feature Film.
Synopsis
